Homework or no Homework?

BY AARON

I think there should be a little less homework for each grade, including high school.

Other opinions? Cooper says we should have mostly no homework for the whole school. Next, we have Austen's opinion, and he says we should have it, but it takes the students a while to do it. Now we have Katarina's opinion, which is we should have a lot less homework. Now, we kids should have time to do what we want or help our parents out by doing chores.

By Kat Stewart Be Green

Be green to nature because nature matters. Please do not litter in the pond because it hurts wildlife. Also recycle plastic and bottles so there's less trash. Try to reuse things you can like bottles by rinsing them after using.

Being green will help the world.

New Hamster

By Jack Crawford and Jacob Bolin

In fourth grade there is a new hamster named Vrooman Jr. in Mrs. Vrooman's classroom. He is a chocolate colored hamster and very sweet. She got him at Southern Agriculture. Mrs. Vrooman had originally wanted a baby girl, but they were all hissing and almost bit the worker. The worker then showed her an adorable hamster and Mrs. Vrooman took him instantly. She had to nix a few names like Puppy Chow. He is so cute.

Murphy

By Anna Schale

Murphy is Miss Molloy's big, adorable golden retriever, and she told me a lot about him. So I have information below.

He loves his football, and he hates loud noises. He loves to swim and he is very fast. He has brown eyes and on rainy days he likes to play in the rain! He eats Purina One, and he is very smart. He sleeps beside Miss Molloy's bed on a black rug.

This is a picture of him when he was a puppy!
